Ocean Avenue Safety Project Update
Ballard said that he Charlie Ream is no longer involved with the project, as he has left SFMTA. The new point person for the project is Mark Dreger, who gave an update to Ballard about the project. The project area now includes Geneva Avenue from Ocean to I-280.

The project is in the stage of gathering community feedback, which will continue until December 2019. Dreger has agreed to come to our next street life meeting in August and this will be an opportunity to get updates and give him our feedback regarding the project area.

Favetti said she heard in a public meeting that the Ocean Avenue Safety Project will start at the same time as the Balboa Reservoir Project and the Transportation Demand Management Project.

Ballard said to Favetti that he would ask Dreger about those projects and how they affect the Ocean Avenue Safety Project.

Escobedo asked about the northbound I-280 freeway onramp straightening project. Mullaney said there is no update currently.

Public Art
Escobedo said that the sculptural archway at the library will be changed to a gateway sculpture. Ballard said that the budget will go up, and we are waiting for a new design and detailed cost estimate.

Unity Plaza Lighting
Mullaney said that the committee get an update in a few months.

Murals
Ballard has been working to schedule a meeting between the muralists and Beep’s Burgers. Given the scheduling difficulty, Ballard will simultaneously pursue permission from PG&E to establish a mural at their substation at 1155 Ocean Avenue.

Public Life Survey
Ballard said that Tom Radulovich provided an update about the public life study. Livable City staff and volunteers finished their Spring collection session on the Eastern end of Ocean Avenue. They collected 150-200 surveys and the pedestrian counts.

They still need to complete the data collection for the western side of the corridor, but they have plans to complete it. Ballard told Radulovich that we need a draft survey as soon as possible, and he is working on a preliminary draft already.

Mullaney asked when draft study can be expected. Ballard said late July/early August.

Public Comment
Mullaney asked whether there can be more trees on Ocean Avenue. Weaver said that DPW advised OAA to buy pots for Capitol Avenue. Weaver said that side streets do not have enough trees, while Ocean has a sufficient number of trees. Weaver said that August or September would be the best times to plant trees.

Favetti said that the OMI-CPP’s Antique and Exotic Car Show has been rescheduled for June 22 at Beep’s Burgers from 12:00-3:00 p.m.

Meeting adjourned at 7:15 p.m.
